We favor the entire repeal of internal taxes, rather than the surrender of any part of our protective system.—Republican Platform.

How we Protectionists will eat Thanksgiving turkey this year!

When John L. Sullivan passes away what will Boston do to sustain her reputation?

The President to Secretary Dan—Say, old fellow, is there no way to get me out of this hole?

There is a strong Benedict Arnold flavor about this effort to fasten Free Trade on the United States.

Mr. Cleveland's Administration has been blivvering ever since it bought those British blankets for the American army.

Mr. Grover Cleveland will shortly propose the Martin Van Buren act and see how much fun he can find in private life in the great State of New York.

That's all right, Uncle Ben—we don't expect you to give $10,000 to support the cause of Protection. Mr. Cleveland knows why he gave that sum to bolster up Free Trade in this country.

COTTON is a raw material which has free duty and in abundance. Yet we are a long way off of dominion over the cotton trade of "the markets of the world." If the Free Trade theory be right, wool is on the same footing as cotton when both are free from duty. Still, we are told that with free wool we shall clothe from our looms the wool-wearing nations of the earth. An ounce of the practical thing is worth pounds of theory.

Still They Come.
 The people of New York and New England have 1,100 millions of dollars in the savings banks, an average of $100 a head. The people of Great Britain have $20 millions, an average of $13 66 a head.

The conditions which make this striking difference account for the large and steady flow of immigration from Great Britain to this country. In the eight months ending with August last 129,000 persons left the land of fair things in Free Trade Great Britain to plunge into the protected misery of America.
 They won't go back, but they will send back their first savings to bring the kin they left behind them. So it has been, so it will be—the fleeing millions of the old world salute the Banner of Protection!

Illustrative Figures.
 The latest Treasury statement dealing with our foreign commerce gives some very instructive figures. In the twelve months ending with August we bought from other countries $36,000,000 more than we sold them; in the eight months ending with August we bought $87,000,000 more than we sold.

These returns suggest some reflections. A considerable part of this merchandise came in under duties by some thought to be so high that they ought to be reduced or entirely removed. Now those duties cannot be regarded by the people as excessively high under which imports steadily and rapidly increase. Nor can it be said fairly that the measure of Protection is beyond reason, when the foreign manufacturer is able not only to maintain but to increase the competing force of his wares in our home market.
 These heavy imports, leaving the balance on the wrong side, represent largely commodities which should be produced in this country, affording work and wages to American labor and contributing their share to the general system of State and local taxation. They represent further millions of dollars in farm products which should have added by that much to the American farmer's market, very much of this value being small and perishable products requiring near-by consumers to make the market for them.

What business man would think he was getting on in the world with his business affairs going wrong after this fashion—constantly buying more than he sells? This is precisely what we are doing as a Nation; and this is precisely the condition which, according to the Free Trade theory, demonstrates a people to be rich and prosperous.

A Significant Movement.
 The fact that the Window Glassworkers' Association, one of the strongest, most prosperous and influential organizations of the Knights of Labor, have decided to place three of their representatives under the direction of the Republican National Committee for work upon the stump is very significant and important. Mr. Campbell, the President of the assembly, makes the announcement in a letter to Chairman Quay, in which he states briefly the reasons which have led to this action, to-wit: that the Republicans did all they could to defeat the Mills bill; that the Republican platform guarantees protection to American industries; and that the fight this fall is one for the maintenance of the high standard the American workmen have attained under protection, which the Democratic party are seeking to destroy.

To make the opposition of the glass workers more emphatic and earnest, it is distinctly stated that "the organization will pay all the expenses of their speakers, as they have decided to do all they can to defeat Cleveland and every one who voted for the Mills bill." The glass industry is one of the foremost in the country, and since it is only one that will suffer with all others, under the blighting influences of a revenue tariff the presumption is that all other manufacturing interests effected by the Mills bill will make common cause against Cleveland and his Free Trade policy. All other assemblies are not so strong numerically and financially as the window glass workers, but they will all be at the elections and vote right. The speakers to be sent out by the assembly will do effective work in New York, New Jersey and Indiana, where the craft has large interests at stake.

China Affronted.
 It was as Senator Sherman said, the Scott Exclusion bill, sprung on Congress for political effect, was an offense in the eyes of China, as it would have been in the eyes of any nation holding diplomatic relations with us. It was for this reason that the treaty was rejected; otherwise it would have been accepted by China. Cleveland and Scott, in cold blood and disgracefully, have lacerated the question and in the eyes of the world compromised our national standing. Signing the Exclusion bill, or refusing to sign it will not materially change this.

There was a treaty pending. To advance Cleveland's chances in the Pacific States, while certain amendments by ourselves were being considered and would have been ratified by China, Scott, at the instigation of the President, and unbeknown to the Secretary of State, prepared the Exclusion bill, overriding the treaty, and in the spirit of contempt for China, Congress passed it. We would not have done it had England, or France, or Germany, or any other nation, been in China's place, and it is to our infinite discredit that we did it at all. By refusing to sign the bill Cleveland can do something to relieve the situation and ourselves from the odium attaching to the transaction. But will he do it? It will soon be seen.

A Proposal to Be Rejected.
 We decline with scorn and contempt the proposal of the Mugwumps set forth by a correspondent in our column yesterday. It is that they should pay $500 to our charity we might name if Cleveland does not have more votes in New York than Hill; and on the other hand that the $500 should pay $500 to our charity the Mugwumps might name if Hill has fewer votes than Cleveland.

Our advice to everybody is to avoid betting, and we certainly will not bet with all the Mugwumps in the world, or with any one of them, because our effort to make the votes of Hill and Cleveland as nearly equal as possible, and we urge every man who reads the Sin to give his suffrage alike to the President and the Governor.

The same correspondent denies lustily that President Cleveland has contributed $10,000 to the Democratic General Committee. This denial is not supported by any evidence whatever. It has every appearance of being a libel, and we denounce it accordingly.

Vest on Negro Bule.
 St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

Senator Vest, has seen fit, under pretense of opposing Chinese immigration, to deliver a characteristic speech upon that most prolific source of Democratic oratory, negro rule in the South. He draws a terrible picture of domination of the white by the colored races, as if the South were a land of deliverance from such a burden; and in the next breath he assures us that the South has accomplished unexampled victories of material progress. The white people of that section are working on the most terrible problem ever submitted to any portion of our race; he grandiloquently declares. And what is this problem, and how are they working it out? Is it not a fact that the colored race has been practically ruled by the South since the war? With all their votes—a majority in several of the Southern States—the colored people have not a single representative in either branch of Congress, and do not control the legislation of a single State.

Will Get Sun-Burned.
 An old farmer from the Okaw came to town the other day, when he met the catcher of a ball with a wire in his mouth on his face. After gazing at it a minute, he turned to his wife and said: "Old woman, I'll be darned if I ever thought the Prohibitionists would ever muzzle the boys like that to keep 'em from drinkin'."

"Pshaw, John!" replied the old lady, "that's not a muzzie. That's a dude that's been up town buying a bundle for his sister."

"What so?" queried the old man, "as he gazed after the youth in speechless wonder."
 "Wal, all I've got to say is, that if his sister was rich an open do-gooder of that kind, she'd get pretty badly sun-burnt."

Getting Even with Her.
 Mrs. Quiver (waking in the night)—John, I'm sure there's burglars downstairs!
 Mr. Quiver (sleepily)—Stiff! Let 'em burgle.
 Mrs. Quiver—O, John! I don't want to promise me at the altar to protect 'em.
 Mr. Quiver—Bah! and didn't you promise to obey me? It's a stand-off.

Very Near, Indeed.
 Mr. Upson (Downing)—If you see anything of a two-dollar bill around here, Hoffman, I wish you would hand on to me for me. I've just lost one out of my pocket.
 Mr. Hoffman (Horn)—Was it a new bill or an old one?
 Upson—Oh, a brand new one. I just borrowed it an hour ago.
 A Sad Anniversary.
 Stranger (to Young Gentleman)—You seem sad, sir.
 Young Gentleman—Ah, sir, ah. 'Twas just a year ago to-day that Laura died. Strange, (tenderly)—Was Laura your sister, sir?
 Young Gentleman—No, sir; Laura was a little dog.
 What is a Sleeper?
 The Boston Journal of Commerce thus defines it: "A sleeper is one who sleeps. A sleeper is that in which the sleeper sleeps. A sleeper is that on which the sleeper runs while the sleeper sleeps. Therefore, while the sleeper sleeps in
